

RADIOLINE PRESENTS ITS AUTOMOTIVE APP RADIO AT GOOGLE I/O IN WORLD PREMIERE

Mountain View, California, May 7, 2019 -- RADIOLINE, a global radio provider (No. 1 in Europe), presents at Google I/O its Android Automobile Embedded app radio & podcast in world premiere.

Selected by Google, Radioline is presenting a demo of its service using the cutting-edge OS for automobile manufacturers.

Radioline's team developed a smart and convenient application for drivers, following safety rules from Google UI. This includes Google assistant voice control for basic commands as play / pause / next / previous / rewind (for podcast) / fast forward (for podcast). The app provides a direct access from the menu to Local stations (Sports / News / Music), Favorites stations, Top podcasts & latest episodes, and limited scrolls and clicks for navigation.

The app also integrates Google Exoplayer to listen to 90,000 stations and podcasts from 130 countries. Curated catalogs are proposed with selected main stations (local and Int'l) and podcasts (replay & native). Favorite stations can be flagged with a Heart button on the player.

“Our partnership with Google offers us a great opportunity to provide an innovative and reliable application to the automotive industry” says Xavier Filliol / COO, “OEM are rapidly digitizing their infotainment system and needs agile and strong partners like us, with a broad coverage of stations and podcasts and 15 years of experience”.

Radioline is also providing hybrid radio solutions for automotive industry, with a seamless experience from FM/DAB to IP streams.
